

Explanation of System Use:

This is an experimental radar which will be operated intermittently for testing purposes.

One aspect of system operation that we are testing is the capability of the radar to detect potentially interfering narrowband broadcasts and to adaptively filter those frequencies out of our transmitted signal to avoid interfering with other spectrum uses.