

The applicant has applied for a limited module and stated in the cover letter “request for module certification” that the requirement for an FCC ID on the module itself is not met:

“The module is not visible to the outside environment. Instead, the host system will show the FCC identification number. The host integrator must follow the labeling instructions and requirements provided in the integration manual.”

Requirements for host labeling are given in the host integration manual.