| Solder Board-Component View 3 |  A photograph showing a different view of the same red solder board component. This view highlights a specific section with a small component and several solder pads. A black ruler with white markings is placed below the component for scale. The ruler shows centimeter and millimeter markings. The background is a light blue textured surface. |
