

31*23MM

FCC ID: 2AAFASY-E511-003

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) this device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.

The image shows the back of a yellow handheld device, possibly a remote control or a small handheld electronic device. The device has a central body with two grips on either side. A small antenna is visible at the top center. The back of the device is primarily yellow with some black components, including a small rectangular port on the left side of the central body. A white label is affixed to the left grip. The label contains the following text:

FCC ID: 2AAFASY-E511-003
This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) this device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.