

The charging port of the prototype is on the battery, so the conduction test only tests the battery.

