Temporary confidentiality for 180 days from public disclosure is important for ShotTracker Inc. from a commercial perspective. It enables the company to complete its development and regulatory efforts prior to introducing the product to the marketplace. Releasing information on the product via the FCC website prior to formal market introduction can be confusing to our customers, and places the company at a competitive disadvantage.

This non-consumer device is not accessible by the general public, because this device is permanently mounted on the rafters, or ceiling high above a basketball court by a trained professional under a Non-Disclosure Agreement (NDA) using a scissor, boom or bucket lift. The rafters are inaccessible to the general public and hang at least 20-30ft above the ground to accommodate high arching basketball shots. Additionally, the device is not serviceable and must be sent back to the factory for maintenance. The picture below shows the device mounted to the ceiling above a basketball court at a height of 28ft.

Sincerely,
