

Circuit Description

When pressing the button on the device, the anode of the power supply will touch one foot of MCU, then a signal will be transmitted. After amplified by the high - frequency amplification, the high level signal will be sent to the crystal. After this, a complete signal is realized and transferred to its receiver. The crystal is 49.860MHz.