Subject: Request for cancellation of the certifications of our product PRX-NIS-4B1
FCC ID:2AHH9-NIP3B
IC: 21262-NIP3B

Reason for the request: Following product verification before starting production, a non-conformity was found in one of the components used in the samples subjected to certification. This non-conformity does not allow the functionality for which the product was designed.

In support of this request we declare that this product:

- has never entered production
- has never been imported into the United States of America or any other country
- has never been sold in the United States of America or any other country
- has never been imported into Canada or any other country
- has never been sold in Canada or any other country

We therefore ask you to cancel the certifications and all the related information assigned to the previously tested product and to apply them to the new product.
