2.2 Poco Main Unit Marking

The Poco device has a silicon outer sheath which is fitted onto the inner skeleton and glued in position. This sheath cannot be marked and it is not possible to add a label on the outside due to the use case which involves the product being used with body parts.

It will be inappropriate and unsafe to add any engraving or markings on the outside of the unit itself as these would collect dirt and impact the ability to clean the device for use which would make the unit unhygienic.

As such Mysteryvibe intend to place the Poco FCC ID mark on the outer box cover such that it is visible at time of purchase.

The FCC warning statement shall be inserted into the user guide provided with the unit.
