

Each module is individually identifiable with a sticker or laser engraving method. Additionally those informations can also be found in the label (or e-label) for final product integration. (See integration manual)

QR Code contains following informations :

Model name;MACAdditional

MIC ID could be added in the space left blank, without changing anything to the current displayed informations