

Electronic Labeling

FCC ID: 4CUFKY QF225, Models Y QF225

Following the KDB 784748 D02 Electronic Labeling Guidance, the information related to Electronic Labeling implementation for the Apple Watch is presented below:

Information	On E-Label	On Product Packaging	In Online Manual	In Printed Info Guide
FCC ID Number	X	X
DoC Logo
15.19 Statement: “This device complies with part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) This device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.”				X
DoC Compliance Information Statements				X
Caution to the user that changes or modifications not expressly approved by the party responsible for compliance could void the user's authority to operate the equipment				X

Uper uj qv'qh'yj g'G/Ncdgnlr tguqpvgr "qp'yj g'kpvgi tcvgr 'f kur rc { "qh'yj g'f gxleg'ku'uj qy p'dgnry 0

Users can access the E-Label screen on Watch by going to

Swipe down on the home screen and then swipe left, (Press the power key on home screen to enter the main menu, then swipe left), tap  to check more information.

These steps are shown in the Regulatory section of the printed "", included in the user manual with the product.

Extract of the Regulatory section from the Watch Info Guide is shown below:

Swipe down on the home screen and then swipe left, (Press the power key on home screen to enter the main menu, then swipe left), tap  to check more information.

The Regulatory information is programmed in a secured manner. End-users or third parties cannot modify the Regulatory information page on the device.

Product Packaging Label is shown below:

The product is packaged individually.

FCC ID: 2ASDIWOD003