

A photograph showing various electronic components and cables laid out on a blue surface next to a ruler. The components include a black rectangular module with a lens, a coiled multi-colored cable, a blue cable with two connectors, a black cable with a small antenna, and a red square component. A red arrow points from a white box labeled "GPS ANT" to the red square component.

