

The image displays the disassembled parts of a portable electronic device, laid out on a blue textured surface. The components include: a white plastic outer casing with a rectangular cutout for a screen; a small white plastic component with a single pin; a black internal frame or bracket with a circular cutout and several mounting holes; a green printed circuit board (PCB) with various electronic components like a microcontroller, capacitors, and a battery connector; and a white battery pack with two AA cells.

Model No.: FA0248

