

1. Operational description

The purpose of Remote Control Locator function is that user is able to find the location remote control unit. Therefore, product in this case Television Receiver with Video Tape Recorder is installed transmitter and its remote controller is installed receiver.

When user power on the product, product emit signal within 5 seconds and remote controller receive the signal then beep so that user can find location of remote controller easily.