ID: AEZNPM-2000-C310

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter serves as an official request for confidentiality under FCC Rule Section 0.459. We have requested that the schematics, block diagrams, modulation description and the operational/technical description required to be submitted with this application be withheld from public review.

In view of the fact that the schematics, block diagrams, modulation description and the operational/technical description disclose the mechanism of our process, we ask that these portions (schematics, block diagrams, modulation description and operational/technical description) of our application be withheld from public inspection as provided under FCC section 0.459. These documents contain details of the proprietary operation of our product. These details are not readily discernible from our hardware – even to technically sophisticated individuals – and constitute trade secrets.

Please contact me if there is any information you may need.

Sincerely,
