To Whom It May Concern:

This is to request a Class II permissive change for FCC ID: AZD401, originally granted on 06/12/2013.

We changed the following points from the original model.

We performed SAR testing with our additional host product. The highest measured SAR of the modified device for a certain configuration (body) is larger than the highest measured SAR for the original device under similar test configurations.

Please refer to the test report submitted with this application.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

---
