

Description of Permissive Change

The report is prepared for FCC class II permissive change by changing component of the device. Please refer to schematics for modifications.

Both devices, original and updated versions, are electrically identical in all aspects except mentioned information above.