Safety and Handling

Important safety information
The Beats Studio Pro Wireless contains sensitive electronic components, including a battery, and can be damaged, repair functionality, or cause injury if disassembled, tampered with, crushed, dismantled, or if exposed to excessive heat or liquid or to environmental conditions having high concentrations of industrial chemicals, including used engine/oil/fuel/ignition gases such as helium. Don't use or attempt to repair Beats Studio Pro Wireless.

Caution: Keep hands and fingers away from the moving parts to avoid pinching.

Batteries
Don't attempt to replace the Beats Studio Pro Wireless battery yourself—only the manufacturer's service center should attempt to replace the battery.

Charging
Charge Beats Studio Pro Wireless with the USB-C charging cable and a power adapter or computer. Only a charge with an adapter that is compliant with USB and applicable country regulations and international safety standards. Other adapters may not meet applicable safety standards, and charging with such adapters could pose a risk of death or injury, being damaged cables or chargers, or charging what remains in power, can cause fire, electric shock, injury, or damage to Beats Studio Pro Wireless or other property.

Prohibited heat exposure
Avoid prolonged skin contact with a device, its power adapter and its charging cable and connector when it is in power mode. Prolonged skin contact may cause discomfort or injury. For example, while Beats Studio Pro Wireless is charging with the charging cable and power adapter, don't lay or wear Beats Studio Pro Wireless, charging cable, connector, or power adapter on your body. Take special care if you have a physical condition that affects your ability to detect heat against your body.

Hearing loss

Listening to music at high volumes may permanently damage your hearing. Background noise, as well as continued exposure to high volume levels, can make sounds seem quieter than they actually are. Check the volume before using Beats Studio Pro Wireless. For more information about hearing loss and how to use a maximum volume limit, see apple.com/limits.

Warning: To prevent possible hearing damage, do not use high volume levels for long periods.

Driving hazard
Use of Beats Studio Pro Wireless while operating a vehicle is not recommended and is illegal in some areas. Check and obey the applicable laws and regulations on the use of headphones while operating a vehicle. Be careful and attentive while driving. Stop listening to your audio device if you find it distracting or distracting while operating any type of vehicle or performing any activity that requires your attention.

Medical device interference
Beats Studio Pro Wireless contains magnetic and electromagnetic fields that may interfere with medical devices. Consult your physician and medical device manufacturer for information specific to your medical device and whether you need to restrict use of medical device and Beats Studio Pro Wireless. Manufacturers often provide recommendations on the safe use of their devices around other products or medical products to which Beats Studio Pro Wireless is interfering with your medical device. Also, consult your Beats Studio Pro Wireless.

Skid inhibition
Beats Studio Pro Wireless can lead to skid inhibition if not properly cleaned. Clean Beats Studio Pro Wireless regularly with a soft lint-free cloth. For additional information on how to clean your device and other tips to avoid skin irritation, go to beatsbydre.com/support. If a skin problem develops, discontinue use. If the problem persists, consult a physician.

Electrostatic shock

When using Beats Studio Pro Wireless in areas where the air is very dry, it is easy to build up static electricity and possible for your ears to receive a small electrostatic discharge from Beats Studio Pro Wireless. To minimize the risk of electrostatic discharge, avoid touching Beats Studio Pro Wireless in extremely dry environments, or touch a grounded object (metal object) before plugging Beats Studio Pro Wireless on your head.
