Confidentiality Letter

Dear Sir:

We formally request confidentiality for the Operator Manual, Schematic Diagrams, Operational Description, Internal Photos, Parts Lists and Tune-Up Information exhibits submitted with this application. These documents contain proprietary design specific information that is not released in the general public domain. No additional user manual is provided to the general public that contains the information for which we request confidentiality. Customers of this product are provided with a copy of these documents to guide them in the safe deployment, field service, and proper operation and utilization of the transmitter

The only customers for this product are FCC licensed broadcasters, and the product is not for sale to the general public. These transmitters are located in secure and/or remote facilities which are not accessible to the general public.

To publicly disclose this information would provide public disclosure of trade secrets and damage our competitive advantages.

Thank you in advance for your understanding and cooperation.

Sincerely,
