
A black power cord is shown against a light-colored, textured background. The cord is bent into a loop. A black plastic or rubber sleeve covers a portion of the cord. On this sleeve, the letters "PWR" are printed in white. Below the text, there is a small, white, square-shaped mark or label. The cord itself is black and appears to be made of a braided or twisted material.

PWR

VOL