

To whom it may concern:

In reference to our notebook product Satellite 1800

We,

Toshiba Europe GmbH
Hammfelddamm 8
41460 Neuss
Germany

state the following:

1/

With reference to our user's manual for TOSHIBA's wireless LAN applications we hereby declare that the therein stated nominal output power means the maximum average conducted output power of our products.

2/

According to the testreport no. 2-2509-A/01 issued by CETECOM ICT Services GmbH on 04-26-2001 you will find the related measurement results on page 11 given as the average maximum output power (AV). This report demonstrates that the effective value of the maximum output power of our devices is rather below our statement which is shown inside the TOSHIBA user's manual.
