How to Install and Operate the Intellicar™
IC40HP Radio Frequency Headphones

Installation

Before You Begin

Before proceeding with the installation, make sure you have the following:

- IC40HP receiver – wireless headphones
- IC40HP transmitter – small module to connect to the bus

Overview

The IC40HP will operate with the Jensen Intellicar™ system only. It uses a proprietary data bus that is exclusive to all Jensen Intellicar™ products. If desired, purchase an additional 5-meter extension cable (IC5MCABLE) to position the module in a more favorable location.

Installation Location

For best reception, install the headphone transmitter under a seat or in the trunk area away from metal surroundings. If the headphone transmitter is installed in-dash, position the antenna away from any metal surfaces. An inch or so of clearance between a metal surface and the antenna can make quite a difference.

Wiring

The Intellicar™ bus includes all power and audio signals in one easy to use 13-pin DIN cable. Before connecting anything to the bus make sure the head unit power is OFF. Plug in the IC40HP module into the Intellicar bus. When a module is connected to the bus, and the head unit power is turned ON, the head unit will display an icon indicating that the module was detected, recognized and is receiving power.

Mounting

The IC40HP transmitter can be mounted using the screw tabs provided or by using double-stick tape or Velcro.

Operation

The Volume/Power and Tuning controls are located on opposite earpieces. You may need to periodically "retune" the headphones to reduce noise or static. Please refer to the head unit's operation manual for further information on the IC40HP Wireless Headphones.

Technical Assistance

For technical assistance call 1-800-323-0221. Before calling, make sure all cable connections are correct and secure.
