500249550
Echostar
08/10/2010

The table is supported by four legs with casters. In the background, there is a window with bright light coming through, and some equipment on a stand. On the floor under the table, there is a piece of wood and a yellow electrical outlet cover.
