Message:

Emissions designator provided at time of filing incorrect. The difference is from A3D to A2D, a change of the information contained in the transmittiong (was listed as analog, should have been listed as digital information). During TCB review the item appeared correct based on provided documentation and discussion with applicant. TCB provided application with review period for all application information prior to accepting grant. Applicant did not determine the error until problem during licensing of the product. Both TCB and Applicant have updated procedures for checking emissions designators.
