Dear Errol:

With reference to correspondence ID 17135:

The belt-clip is plastic and so is the case of the handset. This phone does have a headset option; while using the belt-clip, the end user can use a headset.

With the belt-clip in place, the separation distance between the antenna and a person's body is about 1 inch.

Should you have any questions or require any further information, please advise.

Regards,

Sharon A. Hoffman
