

Subject: Tune-Up

At the factory during production the transceiver functional performance is evaluated and final tested on a pass or fail basis using a Minimum Performance Specification and Recommended Test Methodology. Conforming products in production continue while nonconforming products are removed from production. The user does not have the option to tune because it is not offered and any device that fails in the field will require return to a Garmin service center.