

Functional description

The CD1 is part of a seatbelt control system of a road vehicle which further comprises of a body controller module. The CD1 is woken by a 21.85 kHz LF signal from the corresponding ECU CE1 and responds its status over 434 MHz unidirectional communication.