Professional installation requirements

1. All Risco products are sold to dealers only. Products cannot be purchased at retailers or by mail order.
2. Installation of a wireless alarm system is done by professional installers only. The installers are being trained by Risco Ltd, or by our dealers.
3. Only installers have access to the installer menu in the main control panel, and therefor only installer can change parameters in the siren, or active self test and other system testing.
4. The units can be used commercially, but are also suitable for household use. Either way they are installed by professional installers, and either way the functions left to the user do not allow any change in RF parameters including supervision times.
