Subject: Limited Modular Construction – JPZ0077

Dear Sir or Madam:

This letter is to formally request a limited modular construction for the above FCC ID. The radio meets modular requirements by; incorporating it's own power supply regulation, incorporating a permanently attached integral antenna, is marked with a model number (X1019) and fcc ID, and is being provided with an instruction sheet for implementation. The only deviations that make this a Limited Modular construction are; the module does not contain an RF shield, instead it is tested as part of the final construction in the intended thermostat and the module was not tested in a stand alone configuration as stated before.

Because this module is only intended and marked for use with a specific thermostat model and was tested with that product, this meets Limited Modular requirements.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Robert Spehalski
