

433 MHz

The image shows a white plastic component with a central white square. A black arrow points to the bottom-left corner of this square. Above the square, the text '433 MHz' is printed. The component has four rectangular slots, one on each side, and a large horizontal slot at the bottom. There are also four small circular holes, one in each corner.