The PartnerMic is a remote microphone with direct connectivity compatible hearing devices.

It is intended strictly as a partner microphone to enhance speech intelligibility over distance and in noise and will be clipped-on to the talkers clothes or hung around the talkers neck in a lanyard.

User cases:

- Clipping on
- Hung around neck
- Charging
- Understand a person over distance
- Understand a person in noise
- Upgrading firmware

There are two variants of the PartnerMic, Phonak and Easy Line. Both variants use the same electronic hardware, firmware and material for mechanics. The only difference between the two variants are that they are painted in different colours and the placement of the company name on the device.
