

The image shows the back of a black tablet. It features a large central rectangular area with a grid of small holes, likely for a camera or sensor. Below this is a smaller rectangular area with a similar grid pattern. On the left side, there are two vertical rows of small holes. At the bottom, there are two more vertical rows of small holes. A white rectangular box is overlaid on the lower-left portion of the tablet, containing the text "FCC ID LABEL LOCATION".
