Amplifier Filtering

The spectral mask is maintained by series low-pass filtering in the PN code at baseband. As the spreading code is applied to the carrier, the resulting passband shaping is preserved to the antenna. Repeatability is ensured through monte-carlo simulation and measured at the manufacturing test fixture for compliance.