

SECTION 8. CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION, TRADE SECRETS

8.1 Confidentiality, Non-Disclosure. BUYER agrees that SELLER'S drawings and data, processes, reports, technical data, detailed drawings, internal photographs and specifications, know how, technical information and other information furnished under this Agreement are confidential and shall be treated as confidential by BUYER and its employees, as Agents and Representatives. BUYER agrees to protect and preserve the confidential nature of such information received from SELLER and not to disclose such information to any person other than its employees and representatives as required in the course of their employment or representation for the proper performance of this Agreement. BUYER shall require its employees who have access to SELLER'S confidential information to agree not to disclose or utilize such confidential information except in accordance with the terms of this Agreement. Title to all confidential information disclosed under this Agreement shall at all times remain vested in the disclosing party.

8.2 Trade Secrets Protection. BUYER shall not disclose to any person, firm or corporation, any knowledge or information acquired during the performance of this Agreement or as a result of the discussions and negotiations culminating in the execution of this Agreement pertaining to the conduct or details of the business or property of SELLER which SELLER considers to be a trade secret, unless such knowledge or information is generally known to the public prior to any such disclosure by BUYER.
