Thanks for your time.
Please let me know if you need any other information to respond to this inquiry.
Will the FCC allow confidentiality of the internal photos for this device?
Attached are external photos showing the epoxy, internal photos of the device before epoxy is installed and the confidentiality request letter for this device.
The client is requesting confidentiality of the internal photos exhibit for this transmitter because the circuitry is potted in epoxy and removal of the epoxy would destroy the components.
is processing an application for Certification of a transmitter that monitors tire pressure and temperature inside a vehicle tire. The device operates under 47 CFR 15.231(e) reduced field strength limits in order to send data.

included in this request.

Review FCC Publication No. 726720 dated December 21, 2011.

I believe I already submitted the confidentiality request letter with this inquiry. In case I did not, it is attached. Thanks, Rich Fabina ACB Reviewing Engineer FCC response on 04/30/2012 The confidentiality letter was just uploaded today April 30, 2012, however, you have permission to finalize the Form 731.
