

Response to E04-000097-1

1. A revised confidentiality letter has been uploaded.
2. A declaration of conformity is not required for devices getting submittal approval.
3. Placing the equipment at the edge of the test table would be placing the equipment away from the center of the turntable. Since the 80 cm table may only be centered within the circumference of the site's turntable, this configuration is representative of ANSI C63.4 setup.

By the way, this non-conformity is listed as E04-000099-1, however the information referred to and requested is for E04-000097.