

A detailed view of the internal components of a custom-built robot. The robot's chassis is black and open, revealing various electronic modules. A green microcontroller board (likely an Arduino) is visible, connected to a motor driver and a camera module. A ruler is placed above the robot for scale, showing measurements in centimeters. The robot is resting on a blue surface.

[illegible]

EUT – Solder View

