

Tune up information

The tune-up is performed with a software routine during manufacture. There is no manual adjustment requiring human intervention.