Subject: Request for ADDITIONAL time

Richard,

This letter is to follow up our conversation last week, 02/23/00, with regards to the problems we have had with uploading submittal attachments for various applications submitted during the October- December timeframe of 1999. For some unknown reason some of the files were either lost in transit or they vanished somewhere in between administrative and technical review. As this may always be a mystery, it still is unclear which of the applications experience these difficulties and what attachments arrived in their entirety. Regardless, I am requesting an extension on time for the above-mentioned application so that we can replace the existing submittal package, now in technical review; with a new set attachments and/or exhibits than of those previously submitted. Making assumptions in these circumstances, I believe, would be a mistake and prove to be even more costly to the client. If you were to approve my request for time, my approach would be to first contact the assigned engineer and ask that he identify any of the material/ information/Data, photos etc. which appears suspect of being incomplete. If there are more than 3 exhibits/attachments in any of applications in question I would suggest we resubmit the entire package and request it replace the existing contents presently in technical review. I feel this would eliminate a lot of confusion on both sides of the coin and minimize the cost to the clients.

I feel we have a process now that will not allow these types of errors to occur and since our discovery I have replaced our ISDN lines with a DSL system so although, this may sound like a lot of additional work I believe, it can be achieved in short period of time and at no expense to client.

I appreciate your considerations with these applications and I look forward to your immediate response. We are prepared to begin the re-submittal process immediately with your approval.

I Thank You in Advance,
