

Description of operation:

The TPM sensor / transmitter is a self-contained unit in which there are no electrical connections into or out of the device. The unit monitors and transmits tire cavity pressure and Temperature using an RF signal to a receiver unit. Each TPM sensor contains a unique ID code in its transmission data that a receiver can use to identify tire position or illuminate a warning lamp that identifies that one or more tires has a pressure out of range event.