

OEM Integration Manual Guidance – KDB 996369 D03 Section 2 Clear and Specific Instructions Describing the Conditions, Limitations, and Procedures for third-parties to use and/or integrate the module into a host device. Requirement □ - No. If No, and LMA applies, the applicant can optionally choose to not make the following detailed info public. However there still needs to be basic integration instructions for a users manual and Is this module intended for ✓ - YES the information below must still be included in the operational sale to third parties? description. If the applicant wishes to keep this info confidential, this will require a separate statement cover letter explaining the module is not for sale to third parties and that integration instructions are internal confidential documents. Items required to be in the manual – See KDB 996369 D03, Section 2 As of May 1, 2019, the FCC requires ALL the following information to be in the installation manual. Modular transmitter applicants should include information in their instructions for all these items indicating clearly when they are not applicable. For example information on trace antenna design could indicate "Not Applicable". Also if a module is limited to only a grantees own products and not intended for sale to third parties, the user instructions may not need to be detailed and the following items can be placed in the operational description, but this should include a cover letter as cited above. 1. List of applicable FCC rules. KDB 996369 D03, Section 2.2 Only list rules related to the transmitter. 2. Summarize the specific operational use conditions. KDB 996369 D03, Section 2.3 Conditions such as limits on antennas, cable loss, reduction of power for point to point systems, professional installation info 3. Limited Module Procedures. KDB 996369 D03, Section 2.4 Describe alternative means that the grantee uses to verify the host meets the necessary limiting conditions ✓ - All Items shown to When RF exposure evaluation is necessary, state how control will be maintained such the left are provided in that compliance is ensured, such as Class II for new hosts, etc. the Modular Integration 4. Trace antenna designs. KDB 996369 D03, Section 2.5 Guide (or UM) for Full Layout of trace design, parts list, antenna, connectors, isolation requirements, tests for Modular Approval design verification, and production test procedures for ensuring compliance. If (MA) or LMA. confidential, the method used to keep confidential must be identified and information provided in the operational description. ☐ - An LMA applies 5. RF exposure considerations. KDB 996369 D03, Section 2.6 and is approved ONLY Clearly and explicitly state conditions that allow host manufacturers to use the for use by the grantee in module. Two types of instructions are necessary: first to the host manufacturer to their own products, and define conditions (mobile, portable – xx cm from body) and second additional text not intended for sale to needed to be provided to the end user in the host product manuals. 3rd parties as provided in 6. Antennas. KDB 996369 D03, Section 2.7 a separate cover letter. List of antennas included in the application and all applicable professional installer Therefore the instructions when applicable. The antenna list shall also identify the antenna types information shown to (monopole, PIFA, dipole, etc - note that "omni-directional" is not considered a type) the left is found in the 7. Label and compliance information. KDB 996369 D03, Section 2.8 theory of operation. Advice to host integrators that they need to provide a physical or e-label stating "Contains FCC ID: N7NRC76C" with their finished product 8. Information on test modes and additional testing requirements. KDB 996369 D03, Section 2.9 Test modes that should be taken into consideration by host integrators including clarifications necessary for stand-alone and simultaneous configurations. Provide information on how to configure test modes for evaluation
