

KOHLER.

August 13, 2008

Question 9: Since changes were made to the product during testing to comply with emissions regulations, the FCC needs a letter from Kohler stating that all modifications made to this device during compliance testing will be incorporated into all units during installation.

Answer: During testing of the product, we added clip on ferrite to the cables to comply with the emissions regulations. The cable assemblies will have the required ferrite pre-installed at our cable vendor prior to shipment to the customer. This will eliminate the need for installation in the field.