

A highly reflective, metallic, funnel-shaped object, possibly a component of a scientific instrument or a specialized container. The surface is polished and shows clear reflections of the surrounding environment, including a person and various equipment. The object is mounted on a white, ribbed support structure. A red-bordered label is positioned at the bottom center of the object.

LABEL