

WhereTag III on a lanyard for locating people!

The WhereTag III HO can be used to track people in your facility. The tag can be secured by a lanyard around the neck of employees or visitors. (see the illustration). Several applications for this are possible:

- Security, when coupled with a TV system it can identify intruders or unauthorized persons entering a secure area.
- Safety, one plant producing petrochemicals plans to use the WhereTag to confirm that all employees are safe after a fire or explosion in their plant.
- Location and paging, some users are interested in knowing in real-time where key employees are to route telephone or paging information.
- Entry control, the system can be used to allow or deny access to certain areas of a facility.
