After a review of the information, I have a few comments regarding the above referenced Application. Depending on your responses, please note that there may be additional questions.

- The application also references a docking station – please clarify if this docking station contains any active digital circuitry – if it does, then the docking station is also subject to authorization (SDoC or certification). Please address.

CSA: The docking station contains active digital circuits but no radio modules. The docking station is approved via the SDoC
