Date: November 4, 2021

To Whom It May Concern,

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 0.457 and 0.459 of the Commission's rules, Airspan Communications is requesting to withhold the following attachments as confidential documentation from public disclosure indefinitely:

- Schematic Diagrams and Parts List
- Block Diagrams
- User manual as per KDB 726920 D01 v01r02 section II (3)
- Internal Photographs as per KDB 726920 D01 v01r02 section II (3)
- Operational Description
- Antenna Specification and operational description

With regard to internal photographs and user manuals:

- The 4700 basestation is a non-consumer device, sold B2B to for professional install in a restricted access location at height on a large tower.
- The device is sold subject to a signed Non-Disclosure Agreement, NDA, and please see submitted example NDA.

The applicant has spent substantial effort in developing this product, and some aspects are deemed to be trade secrets and proprietary. Having this information accessible to the applicants' competitors would negate the advantage that Airspan has achieved by developing this product. Not protecting these details will result in financial hardship.

Sincerely,

Mike Livingstone
