To whom it may concern,

Intel Corporation respectfully requests a regulatory Modular Approval from the Federal Communications Commission for the Intel Ambler Bluetooth[®] module. The exclusive distribution channel for the Intel Ambler module, combined with a Modular Approval, is for sale to laptop computer Original Equipment Manufacturers (OEMs) who will in turn integrate this module into their laptop computer designs. The Intel Ambler module will not be sold to the public for use with the Modular Approval.

Consistent with this purpose, Intel is levying design requirements on the laptop manufacturers to ensure that the regulatory requirements are maintained in the OEM platforms with respect to the Bluetooth[®] intentional transmitter module.

Sincerely,

Rick Jessop
