

A photograph of a Voasis PCS antenna system. The system consists of a grey rectangular antenna unit on the left and a silver receiver unit on the right, both resting on a dark brown wooden table. A blue cable connects the two units. A white sign with the text "Voasis PCS" is placed on the table in front of the receiver. In the foreground, a bundle of white cables is coiled. The background shows a clear blue sky, green trees, and a white structure in the distance. The entire setup is on a metal grate floor.
