Declaration of use

The AMG1020 product, although it contains the hardware necessary to support Bluetooth operation, this operation will not be allowed. The software for Bluetooth operation will not be included with the product or provided as an upgrade. If the unit is to be used with Bluetooth then further approvals need to be acquired.

The product does not support any user-level controls in a user interface, so it is impossible for an end-user to cause the AMG to take the Bluetooth device out of reset. All device control is managed by the Vecima configuration management center and Vecima has not implemented any controllable on-board configuration option by which the Bluetooth device could be taken out of reset.

Sincerely
