RE: Marketing Name Change in Grant Note Description (PD9112BNH/PD9112BNHU)

As part of a new marketing campaign in 2010, Intel Corporation wants all wireless products to be clearly identified under the family name of "Centrino®". Consequently I am requesting a change to the grant note description for FCC IDs PD9112BNH and PD9112BNHU.

The change is limited to the marketing name only. The product itself remains exactly the same (design, schematics, layouts, components, power settings, etc).

The requested change is to replace the current description (Intel® WiFi Link 1000) with the new marketing name "Intel® Centrino® Wireless-N 1000".

If possible I would like to have the revisions by 12/15/2009. Thank you in advance and please let me know if anything else is need.

Regards,
